Hello, I would like to make a comment about the no code proposal.What I would like to see is no cw for general but you must pass the written part of general and keep 5wpm for extra.This would give access to below 30Mhz for the techs with the written exam passed. I will never use cw and really have a hard time with it. I am only interested in voice and maybe digital.I have a lot of friends who have been techs longer than me and feel the same way. Thanks for giving me the chance to voice my opinion.
